COVER Co186 Perpetual Limited Edition

In 1981 it was nothing but a dream. Today, after 35 years at the pulse of time, the dream has grown into a thriving watchmaking company. It is at this very special birthday of our family-owned company that COVER presents a limited edition timepiece dedicated to times passed and times to come. With a perpetual calendar movement as the heartbeat of this elegant creation, this timepiece will, for years to come, display each day and date correctly without any manual adjustment to become necessary. Days passed and days to come are ceaselessly indicated, reminding each wearer of life's momentariness – the days spent without realizing one's dreams will never return. Life is precious and it is never too late to bring your dreams to life. All you need to begin with are pen and paper.
